Act III Odette:	Gabriela Antuñano

Act I: The Garden of the Palace

Prince Siegfried is celebrating his 21st birthday. Because he loves to hunt, his mother gives him a crossbow as his birthday present. She reminds him that tomorrow, at the formal celebration of his coming of age, he must choose a suitable bride. Sensing the responsibilities that he has ahead, Prince Siegfried decides to go hunting to take his mind off his worries. He catches sight of a flock of white swans and goes off into the forest.

Act II: A Forest Lake at Dusk

Prince Siegfried arrives at a lake, in pursuit of the swans. As the sun is setting and he draws his bow to shoot, a swan turns into a beautiful young woman. She tells him her name is Odette, and she is the queen of the swans. She tells Prince Siegfried that Rothbart, an evil sorcerer, has turned her and the other maidens into swans, and they can only take their human form at night. The only way the spell can be broken is if a man, pure in heart, pledges to love her. Prince Siegfried tries to capture Odette, but she disappears into the midst of the swan maidens. He pursues Odette and vows eternal love and fidelity to her. As dawn breaks, Odette bids him farewell, and the white swans glide slowly away across the lake.

INTERMISSION**

Act III: The Palace Ball

Prince Siegfried must choose a bride from among the women who have been invited to the ball. Although he is indifferent to them all, he must choose one by giving her a bouquet of flowers. As the pressure mounts, a trumpet fanfare heralds the arrival of Rothbart and his daughter, Odile whom he has transformed to look like Odette. Prince Siegfried is spellbound by Odile's resemblance to Odette. Rothbart's goal is for Prince Siegfried to fall in love with Odile, and thus break his vow to Odette, causing her to remain a swan forever. Odile seduces Prince Siegfried, who is fascinated by her charm. He announces to his mother that Odile is his choice, and Rothbart is jubilant in victory. Suddenly, Prince Siegfried sees Odette outside the castle window and realizes that he has broken his vow. He rushes to the lake to find her.

Act IV: The Lakeside at Night

The swan maidens are heartbroken when Odette tells them what happened. An enraged Rothbart arrives, and attacks Odette. Thinking he has killed her, he departs. Prince Siegfried rushes in, and seeing Odette, begs her to forgive him. Just then, Rothbart reappears and begins fighting Prince Siegfried, nearly beating him. Odette intervenes to save her Prince, and Rothbart falls to his death. The spell is broken by Rothbart's death, and the rising sun shines on all the maidens, Odette, and Prince Siegfried.

At Dominion Energy, 1 in 5 new hires is a Veteran. And if they are called to duty, it's our duty to take care of them and their families. That's why we cover any difference between their military pay and their Dominion Energy salary and continue benefits for them and their families for up to five years. We depend on our servicemen and women, and they can depend on us.
